

Feola

Ainslie continued, "I hate to see these things happen. We have good reports on him while he's on duty as we've had on others who have been discharged."

Ainslie believes there is no bias on the part of the chief toward his son. "He (Feola Jr.) is being treated like anybody else," he remarked.

Clark reiterated Ainslie's report of Feola's work record. "When he's on duty, he's a good policeman," he said.

Chief Feola didn't feel that his son's position on the police force was in particular danger. He has often referred to his son as one of the best policemen on the South Shore. About the case's outcome, he stated, "I can't surmise anything. I can't make any prophesies until the case is adjudicated."

Concerning the charge that Feola, Jr. was carrying a knife, the Chief remarked that he sometimes carries a buck knife himself. "I've always got one in the car with me," he said, in case an accident victim needs to be cut away from seatbelts.

Chief Feola said he apprised his son of the suspension by telephone that evening.

Annual 'Pops' Concert

On Friday, May 18, the Cohasset Jr./Sr. High School Music Department will present their annual 'Pops' Concert in the high school auditorium at 7:30 p.m. featuring performances by the Junior High Concert Band, Senior Concert Band and prize-winning Jazz-Rock Ensemble.

Musical selections will run the spectrum from marches to light classics as well as some of the contemporary music from movies and Broadway. High school band members Lisa Kurtz and Chris Williams will be featured in concerto numbers.

Of special note will be the annual awards presentation honoring outstanding instrumentalists from all performing groups as well as graduating senior band members.

Refreshments will be available through the efforts of the CHS Band Parents and student volunteers.

Children's Television Impacts Film Topic

What's really happening on children's television? What impact are advertising and stereotypes having on our children?

"Kids for Sale", a new film produced by Action for Children's Television, will be shown, Wednesday, May 23rd at Cohasset High School at 8 p.m. The film is part of a program on children's broadcasting sponsored by the Joseph Osgood School Communications Council and open to the general public. A representative from ACT will be present to discuss creative guidelines for television viewing as well as possible alternatives.

ACT is a consumer action group based in Newtonville. The organization was started in 1968 and now has over 11,000 members.
